FROM THE DESK OF DN. STEVE...

Today we learn about wisdom, which we all need. In the First Reading, we hear that Wisdom “is readily perceived by those who love her, and found by those who seek her” (Wis 6:12).

Do we ever ask God for wisdom? I personally always seek wisdom. It is wisdom that helps me understand as I take on problems or help others.

As people of God, we are always present for those in need. But what do you say to someone who is dying of cancer, is going through a nasty divorce, has lost a job, is lonely, or had an unexpected death in the family and children are now left without a parent?

Wisdom helps us to help others; it tells us when to talk and when to listen, when to give a hug or hold the person’s hand, and inspires us to say the right thing at the right time without even realizing it at that moment.

We should always pray for wisdom, not only for us, but also for our leaders, those in power. Wisdom teaches us to know right from wrong. With wisdom, you come to understand what is in front of you, and it shows you how to deal with and resolve an issue in a loving way.

The good news is that wisdom is there for us. Let us pray for the grace of wisdom to help us get closer to each other and to our God.

In today’s Gospel, we are told to stay awake because we do not know on what day or hour the Lord is coming. In the midst of violence, suffering, injustice, persecution, indifference, Jesus, the messenger of peace, tells us to be watchful.

Many of us want Jesus to return now, especially those who are sick, suffering loneliness, and feeling disconnected from the world around them. We know people like this and it is up to us to bring the love of God to them.

If we knew the time was near, how would our lives be today? I would think many of us would be vacuuming up our pasts ASAP and getting ourselves ready for His return.

- Let us expand our prayers to our neighbors and pray for those who have no one to pray for them. Pray for the person sitting next to you at this Mass.
- Let us thank God for the prayers He answers, such as the miracles He puts into our lives.
- Let us ask God for His forgiveness, and then forgive those who hurt us. Life can be short, and now should be the time to forgive before it is too late. Do not ever feel the lifelong regret of not making peace with an individual. Today is the day.
- Let us really listen at Mass today, listen to the words that are said. When we receive the Eucharist, let Christ dwell deep within us.
- Ask questions about your faith; there are no silly questions, just God’s love and wisdom. We are Catholic Christians, what does this mean to you?

If we are going to talk the talk, let us also walk the walk. Volunteer to help others in need. How about inviting someone to dinner, like a neighbor, old friend, or new acquaintance? Expand your family circle.

Every year, day, and minute, we are getting closer to seeing the return of Jesus face to face. Will Jesus recognize you?

May God’s Blessings and Wisdom pour out onto you.

Love,

Deacon Steve and Annette
