10th SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME (Cycle B)
Readings: Genesis 3:9-15; Psalm 130; 2
Corinthians 4:13-5:1; Mark 3:20-35

God reveals His divine plan for humanity in the two Testaments. It is for this reason that we read and relive the events of salvation history contained in the Old and New Testaments in the Church's Liturgy. The Catechism teaches that the Liturgy reveals the unfolding mystery of God's plan as we read the Old Testament in light of the New and the New Testament in light of the Old (CCC 1094-1095).

The Theme of the Readings: Overcoming Evil

The First Reading and the Gospel Reading define the total phenomenon of evil as the Satan (ha-satan, "the adversary" in Hebrew), also known as the devil (diabolos, "false accuser" in Greek), the serpent, and Beelzebul. The Book of Revelation describes this entity of evil as the huge red dragon, the ancient serpent, the Devil and Satan who deceived the whole world, was thrown down to earth, and its angels thrown down with it (Rev 12:9).

In the First Reading, Satan, disguised as a serpent, deceived our original parents and led them into sinning against God by eating the fruit of the forbidden tree (Gen 3:1-7). Their sin was an act of rebellion in the attempt to become like God in deciding for themselves what was good and what was evil. It is a decision that is ongoing and continues to cause suffering for members of the human family.

The Responsorial Psalm is a penitential psalm in which we cry out to God to forgive our sins and to have mercy on our souls. The psalmist has confidence that God will extend His mercy because He has promised His covenant people His forgiveness. The psalmist has confidence that forgiveness will come in the same way that the sentinels (watchmen) are sure that dawn will come to announce another day. The psalm calls on the covenant people in every generation to trust in the Lord and His promise to redeem them from all their sins.

In the Second Reading, like the psalmist, St. Paul proclaims his faith by affirming his belief in the promise of life beyond the limits of human death and the life-giving effect of his mission in preaching the Gospel of salvation to the Corinthians. When Paul writes with confidence concerning his belief in Jesus' Second Advent and the bodily resurrection of the righteous dead, he includes the Corinthians Christians and their appearance in the presence of the Most Holy God.

In the Gospel Reading, the scribes who are the teachers of the Law maliciously accuse Jesus of healing the afflicted by the power of Beelzebul, referring to Satan. In their arrogance, they failed to understand Jesus' mission. He is the promised Redeemer-Messiah who has come to undo the works of Satan and to restore humanity to the intimacy of the relationship Adam and Eve enjoyed with God before their fall from grace.

In today's liturgy, we sing "With the Lord there is mercy, and fullness of redemption," and St. Paul writes that we have "the hope of eternal glory" in Christ Jesus. Our readings this Sunday remind us that, in our belief in Christ followed by our Christian Baptism (Mk 16:16), we become reborn children of an eternal Father. We have Christian brothers and sisters in a covenant family who, like us, are destined for "a dwelling not made with hands, eternal in heaven" (2 Cor 5:1).

"And the Word was made flesh....and dwelt among us."

Peace and Blessings,

Fr. Ken

FORMED PICK OF THE WEEK

Opening the Word: Tenth Sunday in Ordinary Time (Year B)

Watchformed.org

Today's Gospel demands our conversion. Conversion is a two-step process. It requires a change of heart and then a turning around of sorts. It is both an interior and exterior change, moving one closer to God. It could be likened to re-aligning yourself to follow your north-facing compass—it first requires a knowledge that you are no longer headed north, and then the willingness to change paths in order to head north.

Saint of the week

St. Philip Neri was an Italian priest who served both the rich and poor of Rome with a jovial spirit. He founded The Congregation of the Oratory, a secular order which includes priests and brothers and does not bind them under religious vows, but instead by a bond of charity.

Prayer of Identity

Dear God,
 In the garden You asked, "Who told you that you were naked?"
 Who told me all kinds of things about myself — lists of flaws and failures a mile high.
 It wasn't You.
 Plant Your truth inside of me.
 Speak to me about how You see me.
 Remind me that I am Yours, chosen from eternity for You.
 Amen.

Gospel Meditation

Encourage Deeper Understanding of Scripture

Jesus asks us a stunning question this week: "How can Satan cast out Satan?" To enter into this question opens up the often-hidden dynamics of what Jesus has done and is constantly doing. If we're honest, our response to some degree is: "How else can we cast him out? Satan is precisely how we cast out Satan!" But Jesus wants us to see this finally does not work. Here's what I mean.

Satanas names the demonic mechanism by which we render wholeness through accusation. When we face a threat, we seek something to protect us (e.g., more money, social status, security, power, etc.). Rivals inevitably arise for these things and so do tensions. Accusation presents itself. "I'll never be successful unless I get ahead of that guy." "She's already trying to get ahead of me." "That group of immigrants is trying to take our jobs." And so on. The accusation grows into a fear-inducing threat — things will break apart — no, they already are! Hurry! We inflict violence on the victim and — as if by magic — peace ensues. For a time. Soon fresh accusations are required to hold new chaos at bay, until there is no community left at all. This is essentially humankind's sad history in a nutshell.

Jesus' cross and resurrection unmasks this broken system of "casting out Satan by Satan" and ushers in a new one he calls "the Kingdom of God." He reveals that the dynamic of accusation is nothing compared to his power of divine mercy and love. The cross (and not Satan) is the real power to tear down strongholds of sin and cast out Satan. This is why he describes himself as the "stronger man who ties up the strong man to plunder his house." This week let's notice the ways we "cast out Satan by Satan," and then refuse to do it anymore. Because in the long run, that divided house cannot stand.

— Father John Muir
